Ayer's Hair Vigor

You know the story—how good Queen Bess, pointing to the beautiful hair of a peasant girl, said, "There's a real royal crown. I would trade my golden one for it." That was long ago. Now you can have a "real royal crown" of your own, simply by using Ayer's Hair Vigor. It makes the hair grow thick and long and stops it falling out.

When your hair is rich and heavy, and when the closest inspection fails to detect a single gray hair, you will certainly look a great deal younger, and you will be much better satisfied with yourself, too. Isn't that so?

HAWAIIAN BANANAS ON THE COAST*A. C. MCKENNEY TELLS THE HILO GROWERS THE ADVANTAGES THEY HAVE.

HILO, June 3.—A. C. McKenney who was here last week in the interest of the banana growers is delighted with the prospects and possibilities of the Hawaiian fruit in San Francisco. He said:

"In flavor the Hawaiian fruit is a shade better than the Bluefields. The Hawaiian article, however, keeps better, provided it is not damaged in the handling and shipping, and ripens beautifully. As you walk along the street where the fruit stores are you have no difficulty in picking out the Hawaiian from the Bluefield variety for bunches of the latter have to be hung from both ends of the stem and when the fruit is ripe the Hawaiian is much more beautiful."

"There is a great opening for the Hawaiian banana growers in San Francisco and further north. I am here to arrange, if possible, for handling the fruit there and I believe I can do so to good advantage. During the time I was at the coast I talked with men who knew bananas from the time the land was cleared for planting and I learned something about packing for shipment. A mistake has been made here in packing them wet or allowing them to remain in the rain between the packing and shipping. The result of this has been that instead of the beautiful golden fruit you see in the shops here you have a dingy blackened bunch that is by no means inviting to the consumer and of little value to the grower when he gets his returns. The first thing to be done is to improve the method of packing; if they could be shipped without packing in leaves they would ripen more slowly on the voyage and bring better returns. The Hawaiian fruit, more particularly the Hilo fruit, ripens from the top to the bottom of the bunch and a hand at a time, and that is one of the reasons why the dealers and consumers prefer it to that from Bluefields."—Hawaii Herald.
